DIARY NOTES

DD/S

25 November 1963

* * * * *

1. I delivered the communications paper to Mr. Kirkpatrick and conducted my own staff meeting at which I briefed the DD/S Office Heads on General Carter's special Deputies meeting of last Saturday, 23 November, and handed them a copy of the attached memorandum concerning items in which the Office of the Director has a special or particular interest.

2. The remainder of the day was spent primarily in consulting with the Office of Security about the many and varied duties that fell upon them because of the President's assassination. In addition to the people on loan to the Office of Security of the Department of State and the White House Secret Service, they were heavily involved in  information concerning Oswald, the President's alleged assassin, and others in connection with the case. We were also very busily engaged getting in touch with the Director to tell him that we

3. Mr. Kirkpatrick advised me that he had received a hand-written note from Bob Fuchs requesting that he be permitted to continue attending the morning meetings after he becomes Director of Finance and a member of the DD/S organization. I told Kirk that I would disapprove of this inasmuch as I saw no reason for the Director of Finance to attend these meetings any more than any other DD/S Office Head and that, furthermore, I thought the meetings were already too large and should be thinned out.

4.  telephoned to say that he proposed to recommend to the Director that we defer any decision on CIA's role in the national interest intercept program for the remainder of this fiscal year. I said that I concurred in this recommendation and so advised  who also concurred.
